Come make with us!

Are you 10-14 years old and enjoy making stuff? How about playing games, music, drawing, writing, dancing? We're looking for young people who enjoy making up stories. Join us on a 6-week exploration bringing ideas from your imagination and making them into objects and art.

We are two musicians who love to make music and art and we want to make a space where you can join us to create music to play, dances to dance and songs to sing. We will help you build on your ideas to combine our ideas into works of art that represent our voices and imagination.

Meet us online from your home and in person at the Linenhall Arts Centre for workshops. We hope to spark your curiosity, encourage creativity and have fun creating and sharing work.

Artways is a process-based rather than a goal-oriented learning experience, which means that the focus is on nurturing and strengthening your connection to creativity, emotions and thoughts through a series of games and challenges, recording ourselves and our experiences and working together to make something we're all really proud of.

This project is being led by Cora Venus Lunny and Lisa Dowdall both exceptional musicians who love to create and make art and music with children and young people. During September and October 2021 they are artists in residence at the Linenhall Arts Centre.
